

About

Last Updated Wednesday, 31 March 2010

What is DPL Press, Inc.?

DPL Press, Inc. is a full-service publishing house committed to providing valuable resources to consumers through its bestselling experts in the fields of personal finance, business and consumer education. Because its focus is on titles that enable and empower consumers, DPL Press, Inc. attracts authors, booksellers and the media who want to work with editorial and marketing specialists with consumer-related expertise.

With its hands-on approach to publishing and its finger on the pulse of the American consumer, DPL Press, Inc. is able to provide resources that consumers are adding to their permanent libraries. DPL Press, Inc. was founded in 2004 by a group of publishing experts that included personal finance guru Mary Hunt, called by some the "Ann Landers of personal finance." DPL Press, Inc. launched its debut list in Fall 2005.

Sales and Distribution Sales and distribution is handled by DPL Press. Please contact us for orders and/or a price list, including discounts for large orders.

Marketing/Advertising Activities DPL Press, Inc. participates in ongoing selective advertising co-ops with Barnes and Noble, Amazon.com and Books-A-Million, to name a few.

For more information

Cathy Hollenbeck, Publisher

562-630-6474 X 109

Cathy@dplpress.com